Bourbon County Goes for Rankin.

The election in Bourbon county Tuesday for a Representative in the Lower House of Congress passed off quietly and was marked by the inactivity of both parties in their effort to get out the full vote, neither exerting themselves to a great extent with the result that not more than two-thirds of the total vote of the county was polled.

On the face of the unofficial returns Hon. J. Campbell Cantrill received 1,427 votes while Mr. M. C. Rankin received 1,634 a majority of 207 for the Republican candidate.

As compared with the vote received by Mr. Cantrill in the election of 1908 when the Democratic candidate carried the county by 202 votes over Judge Bristow shows a falling off of 1,971 in the Democratic vote of the county and a decrease of 662 Republican votes.

In Clintonville precinct No. 2 not a vote was cast for either the Republican or Democratic candidate, when in 1908 Cantrill received 47 and Bristow 109 votes.

The six precincts in the city of Paris gave Rankin a majority of eight votes. The city of Paris in 1908 gave Mr. Cantrill a majority of 113 votes. W. O. Hinton and Chas. E. Butler, Democratic nominees for Councilmen from the Second Ward were elected without opposition. Clarence Kenney was elected as a member of the School Board, having been appointed by the Board to fill the unexpired term of T. T. Templin and Roy Clendennin, who was selected to fill the unexpired term of Edwin Sweeney as a member of the board was also elected. The vote of the county is as follows:

The Best There Is.

There is no better town anywhere than right here in the capital of Bourbon. If you talk about it others will hear you and do likewise. Never say anything that will make an outsider think the town is going down hill. The Owensboro Enquirer gives the following good advice:

"Do you love your town? Do you have any concern for its future? Would you like to see it grow, prosper and extend its trade and influence? If you do, then ask yourself these questions: 'Do I help support and maintain its institutions? Do I encourage every movement looking to the up-building of the town? Do I speak a good word for the town and the people at every opportunity? Do I lend assistance to its industries? Do I patronize them? Do I fully understand the duties devolving upon me as a citizen?'"

If these questions are not answered in the affirmative, you are not only a stumbling block but a detriment to any community.

More "Vindication."

Caleb Powers was the victor in the Congressional race in the Eleventh District Tuesday, which, from a partisan Republican point of view, is a further "vindication" of the mountain "martyr." His majority over Judge Bertram was something less than 8,500, which is not half of the usual Republican majority of the Eleventh, which is normally 22,000.

It was an uphill fight from the first for the Democrats, but the result is gratifying even in the face of the defeat suffered by the Democratic candidate that more than 13,000 Republicans in the district did not favor putting a man of Powers' stripe in Congress. Powers seemed to realize that he was not able to command the strength of the Republican party of the district which was indicated in his closing speech of the campaign. But there were enough in spite of all the Democrats could do to snow Judge Bertram under with a majority of more than eight thousand.

This is most to much for the proud old Commonwealth of Kentucky to bear. Such a victory is not worthy of mention. It was hoped there was enough people in the Eleventh district who were fair enough of mind and imbued with the consciousness of the true Kentuckian to put the "martyr" on the shelf. They have done the work, however, but the whole of the State cannot be held responsible for what happened in the Eleventh, and in putting a thrice convicted accessory to one of the most heinous crimes ever committed within the borders of the State on an exalted pedestal and in the halls of Congress. God forbid that the grand old State of Kentucky shall ever again suffer such shame and humiliation.

Theodore Repudiated.

"Beaten to a frazzle," but this time it did not come from the lips of "Teddy the Terrible." On the contrary it was the Democrats who voiced the exclamation of the former president. Silent as a tomb, he who attempted to swing the Republicans into line with the "big noise" wonders how it all happened.

Strange as it may seem Teddy failed completely to benefit the Republicans in speech making and flying trips through the Northern states. Every place he touched went Democratic, even his own precinct.

The people are tired of Teddy and of Teddy's ways. He has covered up his trail long enough; "murder will out." He has been shelved now by his own following, and the effect will no doubt be felt when the next Presidential year rolls around. Teddy and "New Nationalism" are sinking deeply in the dark oblivion. May the result of Tuesday's election still the voice of America's greatest "blow hard" for time immemorial.

Life's Three Great Questions.
There are three great questions which in life we have over and over again to answer. Is it right or wrong? Is it true or false? Is it beautiful or ugly?—Lord Avebury.

What Else?

We may look for most anything to happen in this advanced age. A man conspires to do murder, under the guise of a soldier he attempts escape but is intercepted in his flight by officers and arrested; he spends eight years in prison, is thrice convicted of complicity in a foul crime; is pardoned by a Republican, leaves prison a rich man and the people of his home district hailing him as a martyr elect him to Congress. A lucky day for Powers when he piloted the mountain army to Frankfort. What else can the Republicans do to add shame to Kentucky.

Hard on Kentucky.

When the steamship Minnewaska, left New York Harbor last Saturday, she carried as a big portion of her cargo about seventy-five thoroughbred horses, the property of two millionaires, James B. Haggin and Clarence M. Kay. These horses have always been at Lexington at the breeding establishments of these noted men, but now they must go as their owners are discouraged at turf conditions in this country. Besides Kentucky, Madison county must suffer to some extent on this account. It is appalling to think of the rapid depopulation of the great thoroughbred breeding farms in Kentucky and the wreck that has been made of the industry by untoward legislation in New York, attributable in greatest measure to former Governor Charles E. Hughes. During the past three years thoroughbreds of all ages and sexes have been sold—in many instances practically given away—out of Kentucky by the hundreds until now a mere handful remain. The cream of these have gone abroad to France, Germany, Belgium and the Argentine Republic and across the border into Canada, while many of the mediocre ones have been shipped to Mexico, Chile, Peru, Japan and far away Australia. The others, even cheaper, have been scattered over the farms of the West and the plantations of the South to become general purpose animals and mule mothers.

Not in Webster's Dictionary.

A girl, when asked how beef tea was made, answered, "Buy a pot of beef extract and follow the directions on the lid;" and a second gave "Cayenne pepper and Jamaica ginger" in reply to "What are warmth-producing foods?" But it was a boy, who was asked what "celerity" was, and who, from experience, defined it as "something to put hot plates down with."

Shooting Over the Election.

In a difficulty over the election at Jeffersonville, Montgomery county, Tuesday, Lloyd Willoughby shot Will York, with a .38-caliber revolver, the bullet entered York's forehead and he will die. York is about 40 years old and is married and has several children. Willoughby is under arrest.

Free DyspepsiaSample

Sufferers from indigestion are waking up to the fact that peppermint lozenges, charcoal and "dyspepsia cures" are only makeshifts in the cure of so troublesome a complaint as chronic indigestion. What is required is something that will not only relieve but which will tone and train the digestive apparatus to again do its work normally, and this these simple remedies cannot do.

There is something more to the cure of indigestion than sweetening the breath, and yet a remedy that only contains digestive ingredients will not cure permanently, as the basis of indigestion is poor bowel circulation, and that requires a scientific blending of these requirements better than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which has been sold for a quarter of a century.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a laxative tonic, a scientific blending of natural ingredients for the cure of constipation, indigestion, liver trouble, sour stomach, sick headache and similar complaints. Its ingredients will so strengthen and tone the stomach and bowel muscles that they will again do their work naturally, and when that has been accomplished, your trouble is over. Fannie Stuart, Staunton, Va., was a long-time sufferer, as was O. Tuck, Blackburn, Mo., and they both found their cure with this remedy. They became convinced that pills and tablets, "dyspepsia cures," etc., were at best only temporary relief. They first accepted Dr. Caldwell's offer of a free sample bottle, which he willingly sends to anyone who forwards name and address. Later, having convinced themselves through the free sample, they bought Syrup Pepsin of their druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 8300 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

A Clean Man

Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and new, clean, healthy tissues. The man who is clean in this way will look it and act it. He will work with energy and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts.

He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomachs. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

prevents these diseases. It makes a man's insides clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clean blood, and cleans, healthy flesh.

It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. Constipation is the most unclean uncleanness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They never gripe. Easy to take as candy.

DEMOCRATIC LANDSLIDE

Hit the State of Kentucky and Congressmen Re-elected.

BEN JOHNSON RUNS FINE RACE

Caleb Powers Won Spectacular Race
in Eleventh District—Langley Elected Over Byrd.

Frankfort, Ky.—The tail-end of the Democratic landslide struck Kentucky as the returns indicate that the Democrats were able to redeem but one congressional district that has been Republican for a number of years, and may have lost an appellate judge. The line-up of the Kentucky delegation in congress at the next session will be: Second District—H. O. Stanley, Dem., Henderson. Third District—R. Y. Thomas, Dem., Elkton. Fourth District—Ben Johnson, Dem., Bardstown. Fifth District—Swager Shirley, Dem., Louisville, Ky. Sixth District—A. B. Rouse, Dem., Burlington. Seventh District—J. C. Cantrill, Dem., Georgetown. Eighth District—Harvey Helm, Dem., Stanford. Ninth District—W. J. Field, Dem., Grayson. Tenth District—John Langley, Rep., Presonburg. Eleventh District—Caleb Powers, Rep., Barbourville.

DEMOCRATS MAKE GAINS.

Results as Shown in the Districts
Throughout Kentucky.

Frankfort, Ky.—Democrats scored sweeping victories all over Kentucky at Tuesday's election.

The net result of the election was nine Democratic congressmen out of 11, and the election of all four of the Democratic candidates for the court of appeals.

After the battle of ballots it was shown that the Democrats had made a gain of one congressman, W. J. Fields, in the Ninth district, who made a remarkable race against Congressman J. B. Bennett, the Republican opponent.

In the First district Congressman Ollie M. James, Democrat, was re-elected by an old-time majority, his only opponent being a Socialist.

The Second district, by an increased majority, returned to Congress A. O. Stanley, of Henderson.

One of the surprising races was that made by Congressman R. Y. Thomas, Jr., in the Third district, who defeated W. H. Jones, his Republican opponent, by 1,324 majority.

The most remarkable race ran in the state was made by Congressman Ben Johnson, in the Fourth district, who carried every county against Dr. Gaddie, Republican, receiving an unprecedented majority of over 6,000.

In the Fifth district Congressman Swager Shirley, Democrat, goes back to Congress, having defeated his Republican opponent, Judge Wheeler McGee, by a majority of nearly 4,000.

The Seventh district, after one of the hardest fights in the state, returns to congress J. Campbell Cantrill, Democrat, by about 3,000 majority over M. C. Rankin, Republican.

Harvey Helm, Democrat, made a runaway race in the Eighth district, easily defeating Hugh Miller, Republican.

In the Tenth district A. Floyd Byrd, Democrat, made a gallant fight against great odds, but was unable to overcome the big lead of J. W. Langley, Republican, who is sent back to the next congress.

While the Eleventh district was conceded to Caleb Powers, Republican, the Republican majority was greatly reduced by Elza Bertram, the Democratic candidate, who ran a most surprising race in this stronghold of Republicanism.

The Democrats made a clean sweep of the four appellate districts in which elections were held for judge of the court of appeals.

Judge Shackelford Miller won over R. W. Bingham, Republican, in the Fourth, or Louisville, district by a majority of about 1,500.

In the Sixth district Judge John M. Lassing ran a remarkable race, easily defeating Judge Tomlin, Republican, by about 5,500 votes.

FIRST DISTRICT.

Paducah.—With scarcely any returns in from the First Congressional district, with the exception of Paducah, Ollie James, Democrat, is estimated to be elected by 6,000 majority over C. L. Horney, the Socialist nominee. Judge T. J. Nunn, Democrat, of Madisonville, had no opposition for the appellate court. The vote was very light. In Paducah the Democrats elected the aldermanic and councilmanic boards, and the Republicans elected three of the eight school trustees. The bond issue for a new county jail lost.

SECOND APPELLATE DISTRICT.

Owensboro.—Returns from all but one of the counties in the Second Appellate district show that Judge W. E. Settle, of Bowling Green, Democrat, made a runaway race for re-election as judge of the Court of Appeals over Judge J. Allen Dean, Republican, of Owensboro. The majorities by counties follow:

| Counties. | Settle. | Dean. |
|--------------|---------|-------|
| Breckenridge | 170 | 271 |
| Butler | 822 | 271 |
| Daviess | 1495 | 271 |
| Edmonson | 300 | 271 |
| Grayson | 200 | 271 |
| Hancock | 17 | 271 |
| Henderson | 1200 | 271 |
| McLean | 525 | 271 |
| Logan | 650 | 271 |
| Munroe | 700 | 271 |
| Meade | 250 | 271 |
| Ohio | 525 | 271 |
| Simpson | 4 | 271 |
| Todd | 600 | 271 |
| Warren | 600 | 271 |
| Total | 5696 | 2093 |

Settle's majority, 3543.

THIRD DISTRICT.

Bowling Green.—The result in the Third district was as follows:

| Counties. | Thomas. | Jones. |
|------------|---------|--------|
| Allen | 285 | 285 |
| Barren | 889 | 285 |
| Butler | 771 | 285 |
| Edmonson | 350 | 285 |
| Logan | 685 | 285 |
| Metcalfe | 275 | 285 |
| Muhlenberg | 55 | 285 |
| Simpson | 500 | 285 |
| Todd | 1 | 285 |
| Warren | 875 | 285 |
| Total | 3065 | 1681 |

Thomas' majority, 1324.

FOURTH DISTRICT.

Bardstown.—Congressman Ben Johnson made an unprecedented race in the Fourth district, carrying every county over his Republican opponent, Dr. D. W. Gaddie, of Larue county, and receiving a total majority of 6,351. Following are the majorities by counties:

|---------------------|------|
| Breckenridge county | 20 |
| Bullitt county | 512 |
| Meade county | 511 |
| Marion county | 941 |
| Ohio county | 200 |
| Hart county | 263 |
| Larue county | 287 |
| Nelson county | 1645 |
| Washington county | 500 |
| Taylor county | 324 |
| Green county | 35 |
| Hardin county | 883 |
| Grayson county | 200 |
| Total | 6331 |

SIXTH DISTRICT.

Covington.—Arthur B. Rouse, Democrat, was elected congressman from the Sixth Kentucky district by a plurality ranging from 3,000 to 5,000 votes. In Kenton county he rolled up a vote of 4,694, against the 3,808 given Charles W. Nagel, Republican. However, in Campbell county he lost to Nagel, the vote standing 3,565 for Rouse and 4,487 for Nagel.

Lassing received 5,945 votes to 3,965 for Judge J. G. Tomlin. In Campbell county he stood 4,441 to Tomlin's 3,899. In Carlisle county Lassing was the favorite by a plurality of 655. In Mason county he received a plurality of 670 votes.

In Covington the entire Democratic city ticket was elected, including the councilmen, aldermen and members of the school board. In Newport the entire city ticket of Republicans won.

The bond issue of $100,000 to build a new reservoir in Devou Park and to maintain that plot of 500 acres was carried in Covington by 400 votes. The issue was supported by almost all the voters, two-thirds of the vote being necessary to pass it.

SEVENTH DISTRICT.

Lexington.—Congressman J. Campbell Cantrill, from his home in Georgetown, gave out the following as the majorities shown by each county of the district, and which he was confident would be found correct:

Cantrill—Scott, 950; Franklin, 850; Bourbon, 207; Woodford, 126; Henry, 540; Owen, 1,175; Oldham, 250. Rankin—Cantrill, 3765; Rankin, 731; Cantrill's majority, 2,984.

EIGHTH DISTRICT.

Shelbyville.—Returns received here indicate the following majorities for Harvey Helm, Democrat, in the Eighth Congressional district:

|-----------|-----|
| Shelby | 784 |
| Spencer | 425 |
| Anderson | 500 |
| Jessamine | 435 |
| Mercer | 350 |
| Boyle | 250 |
| Lincoln | 500 |

Rockcastle went Republican by 200; Garrard by 26 and Madison by 150. This makes Helm's estimated majority in the district 2,824.

NINTH DISTRICT.

Covington.—John M. Lassing, Democratic candidate for judge of the court of appeals from the Sixth appellate district, estimated his majority over Judge J. G. Tomlin, Republican, at 5,500. He said practically reliable reports from the Ninth Congressional district indicates that W. J. Fields, Democrat, had defeated J. B. Bennett, Republican incumbent, for congress by a majority of about 1,000.

TENTH DISTRICT.

Mt. Sterling.—Estimated returns received at Republican headquarters here indicate the election of John W. Langley, Republican incumbent, to congress over A. Floyd Byrd, Democrat, by over 1,000. Byrd ran a remarkable race and cut down the Republican majority over one-half.

ELEVENTH DISTRICT.

London.—The Eleventh Congressional district, true to its tradition, gave Caleb Powers, the Republican nominee for congress, a majority of 8,768 over State Senator Eya Bertram, the Democratic nominee. Notwithstanding the fact that hundreds of Republicans voted for the Democratic nominee and hundreds of others stayed away from the polls, the Democrats were unable to wipe out the huge Republican majority which sometimes amounts to 22,000.

In the appellate judge race in the Fourth district between Shackelford Miller, Dem., and R. W. Bingham, Fusion, is close, both sides claiming victory. It may require the official count to decide the contest.

Judge Warren E. Settle, Jr., Dem., Bowling Green, is re-elected appellate judge in the Second district by 4,000. Judge J. T. Nunn, Dem., Marion, is re-elected in the First, without opposition.

There was a woeful lack of interest taken in the election and the smallest vote in years seems to have been cast.

The win for Judge Settle is taken as a victory for the "non-partisan bench" idea, as many Republicans advised against opposition to him, as he had never considered politics on the bench. He reversed the judgment in the Campbell Powers cases, giving him retrials.

There was never any doubt about Congressman Shirley's re-election, as he is regarded the leader of the Kentucky delegation and is very popular personally.

The serious charges made against Congressman Campbell Cantrill in the Seventh district and the bitter opposition to him by the Burley Tolacco organization gave the independent voters hope that M. C. Rankin, the Republican candidate, would win. In the closing days of the campaign the Republicans deserted Rankin because he put no enthusiasm into the campaign and did not take the stump. Rankin may have something to say later about the conduct of his campaign. Rankin carried three counties in the district—something wonderful. Cantrill only polled about 60 per cent of the Democrat vote and Rankin 75 per cent of the Republican vote.

III With Typhoid.
Nominee Fields in the Ninth district was ill with typhoid fever during the greater part of the campaign, but there was widespread opposition to the incumbent and Fields won.

Langley probably wins because of his splendid organization. He kept in touch with every man in his district.

There is marked evidence that both parties stood pat in practically all of the districts.

Where local issues predominated the independents won and where national issues were paramount the Democrats were victorious.

WHEN IS A MAN AT HIS BEST?

Line Is Being Pushed Further Back and He Who Is Past Fifty Need
Not Be Ashamed of It.

When is a man best intellectually and physically? The answer was thus stated by a witty physician: "Most men are no good at their best." There is no rule for the extraordinary man. That Cato learned Greek at eighty affords no criterion. There is no measure for Napoleons; Lincoln defies the rules, and no school or method of instruction—not even by correspondence—will certainly teach the full measure of the patriotism that characterized Washington.

When is the average man at his best? That depends a good deal upon what is required of him. A prize fighter is old at thirty; most counselors-at-law are youthful at fifty, and for the ordinary pursuits every man is entitled to his "guess," and there shall be no decision. But it is certain that the dead line is being pushed further and further back upon age. Men are learning how to live; the comforts of life are more easily attainable; science intervenes in man's behalf, and the man who has passed fifty need not be ashamed of his years, because he may see for himself that there is a place for him by simply regarding the men long past that age who are actually carrying on the world's work.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

First Telescope.

Very few people are aware that the first practical telescope—the one which Galileo used in discovering the satellites of Jupiter in January, 1610, is still in existence and preserved at the Museum of Physics and Natural History in Florence. It is about 300 years ago since the instrument was first turned toward the heavens. Unlike the present astronomical type, it had a concave instead of a convex eyepiece, just like the opera glasses now in use. When Galileo first exhibited his new telescope to the doge and an enthusiastic assembly, he was overwhelmed with honors, because it was thought that the instrument would give the soldiers and sailors of the republic a great advantage over their enemies.—Strand Magazine.

A COURSE OF DINNERS.

It Includes Roasted Peas as a Substitute For Coffee.

In a little book called "The Economical Housekeeper," published about the year 1840, there is given on one page "A Course of Dinners for a Week." At the time of its publication the little book was most popular, as is proved by the author's preface to the second revised edition. She says:

"Encouraged by the very favorable reception that our humble labors have met in the rapid sale of the first edition of 1,500 copies in about fifteen weeks, and the demand still continuing, we have improved the time by endeavoring to make the present edition more worthy of patronage, if possible, than the first."

Therefore it is probable that the "course of dinners" which follows was considered admirable at that time:

"Monday—Tea, coffee or cocoa, with mince meat, bread and butter in winter, bread and milk in summer.

"Tuesday—Boiled dish, with apple dumplings.

"Wednesday—Roasted or baked meat, with bread pudding.

"Thursday—Broiled steak or fresh fish, with baked rice pudding.

"Friday—Baked beans, with baked Indian pudding.

"Saturday—Salt codfish boiled, with apple pie.

"Sunday—Morning, hashed fish and coffee; noon, bread and butter, cheese, pie, doughnuts."

It is a suggestive paragraph which appears on the same page:

"Peas, roasted and ground, are an excellent substitute for coffee, and you would hardly know which is best."—Youth's Companion.

Value of the Kangaroo's Tail.

So important is the kangaroo's tail in his rapid progress that experienced hunters with guns are accustomed to fire at the point where this appendage joins the body, when the tail being disabled for its office of balancing, the animal is as effectually stopped as if hamstrung. Hit elsewhere, except with a rifle bullet or at point blank range, the kangaroo is pretty likely to get off. One peculiarity of the kangaroo is that, after being started up, he very rarely swerves from his course, through which peculiarity he is easily "potted" by hunters, who conceal themselves while a nian on horseback drives the herd toward them.

Insect Wonders.

Nothing can exceed the perfection of the minutest parts of the insect organization in general. The finest strand in a spider's web, which can scarcely be seen, is said to be composed of no less than 4,000 threads. On a single wing of a butterfly have been found 100,000 scales and on that of a silkworm moth 400,000, each of these minute scales being a marvel of beauty and completeness in itself. So thin are the wings of many insects that 50,000 placed over each other would only be a quarter of an inch thick, and yet, thin as they are, each is double.

MADDENING MONOTONY.

The Graveyard Sort of Life That Obtains in Sierra Leone.

It is difficult to explain how complete in normal times is the dullness of the small villages in the protectorate of Sierra Leone, on the coast of western Africa, says a writer in the Nineteenth Century and After. An hour before sunrise shadowy figures move noiselessly through the narrow alleys which separate the mud walled houses and in single file pass out of sight toward the farm lands. A little later children and a few women leave the houses to obtain water for cooking. They also go in single file and in a short while will return in the same manner carrying water in calabashes, except, perchance, one or two may be affluent enough to possess a tin in which kerosene oil has been imported. During the great heat of the day people return and sit, silent and motionless, in the thatched roof verandas. Toward evening there is more movement. Food time generally brightens people even when it only means rice and peppers. Soon after sunset all sign of life ceases. There is no light in the houses, because oil is expensive, and a dying fire is enough when there is nothing to see except those you have seen all day; there are no sounds, save a baby's cry at intervals, or perhaps the weird cull of some night bird, because people cannot talk much when no one has anything fresh to say. Next day will be the same, and so will be every day in the year except at festival times, such as when the girls or boys return, dancing and gayly decked, from the Porroh Bush. There is no church, no postman, no passing horse or carriage and no newspapers.

Warning Gold Dishes.

Castle Kilkenny is one of the oldest inhabited dwellings in the world, some of the rooms being 800 years old. Among its ancient treasures is a service of gold plate. Besides the ordinary plate service, Castle Kilkenny has the whole series of gold cups used at coronation banquets down to the time of George IV. The gold of the service plates is almost without alloy, consequently very soft and easily marred; hence the plates are warmed and presumably also washed after use by being dipped into hot water, held by a pair of tongs whose tips have been muffled in chamois leather.—London Mail.

Prisoners Escape.

Three negro prisoners escaped from the Franklin county jail Tuesday afternoon in broad daylight. The three prisoners were Ed Noel in for robbery; John Hawkins for housebreaking; and Pery Hayden, for malicious cutting. Hawkins was only put in Saturday for robbing a house at Chouteville and was shot in the back of the head before he was captured.

The three negroes were in cells on the third or top floor of the jail, and in some way managed to climb up to the ceiling and get through the trap door leading to the roof. After they did this it was easy to lift the second trap door, admitting them to the roof. They had provided themselves with all the sheets in their cells, and these they tied together and let themselves down in the rear yard of the jail. Jailer Lucas had no way of knowing what the prisoners were doing, as he was on the ground floor in the office. A prisoner on the second floor saw one of the men as he slid down the sheet, and called to Mr. Lucas. He was too late, however, to catch the men, as they ran as soon as their feet hit the ground.

Lexington Masons to Build Home.

The Masonic Temple Association of Lexington, with a capital stock of fifteen thousand dollars, has filed articles of incorporation with Fayette County Clerk. The articles of incorporation authorize the corporation to purchase and hold real estate and to erect thereon a home for the use of the following Masonic bodies: Lexington Lodge No. 1, Free and Accepted Masons; Devotion Lodge No. 160, F. & A. M.; Lexington Royal Arch Chapter No. 1, R. A. M.; Washington Council No. 1, R. & S. M.; Webb Commandery No. 1, Knights Templar.

Weil Secures Feeding Privilege

Jonas Weil, the cattle buyer of Lexington, has secured the feeding privileges at the Paris Distilling Co., and now has 750 head of cattle in the cattle barns which are to be fed until the plant ceases operation in May.

Partridges Plentiful.

The game law opens next Tuesday in this state. Pendleton, Bracken, Grant, Boone and Robertson counties report plenty of partridges, but as to rabbits, they claim they are not so plentiful in some parts. For some unaccounted reason a good many rabbits were found dead last season and the season before, presumably from some disease, and which might account for the falling off and the drowning out of the young ones. Many places have been posted against the hunters on account of their recklessness in shooting into the stock.

Millions of Red Cross Stamps Distributed.

Judging from reports at hand the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis estimates that by December 1, not less than seventy-five million Red Cross Stamps will have been distributed to selling agents in forty different states of the country.

Forty million seals have already been printed and another large edition is being prepared. Agents' orders to date aggregate all of that amount and a considerable number have not yet stated how many seals they can use. Taking into consideration this latter class and the agents who will be appointed before December 1, the prospects for selling one hundred million stamps, which is the goal that has been set by the national workers, are extremely bright.

Over thirty state societies have organized the sale on an extensive basis, and in about ten more states, Red Cross Stamps will be sold in some places. All told, including state, city, county and sub-agents, an army of fully fifty thousand men, women and children will be engaged in selling the bright Christmas Stamps for the prevention of tuberculosis. Permission to sell seals in the corridors of the postoffices has been granted by Secretary Hitchcock. They will also be on sale in department stores, hotels, railway stations, drugstores, and in thousands of other places.

Every conceivable device for advertising the seals is being prepared. In some places valuable prizes will be given. Millions of slips, doggers, posters, and other kinds of literature will be distributed calling upon the public to buy Red Cross Stamps.

Among the agencies that are co-operating with the Red Cross and the tuberculosis societies are women's clubs, lodges, labor unions, business men's associations, stores, banks, newspapers, and thousands of school-boys and girls.

Father Slays Son in Madison.

Brassfield, Madison county, was the scene of a sad tragedy, which took place Tuesday. Lewis Bates, aged eighteen years, is dead, having been shot down by his father, John Bates. All are colored. The elder Bates has an ugly wound in the head, made from a hatchet in the hands of the boy, and one or two bullet holes through his clothes. A family quarrel is responsible.

The abusive attitude of the father toward other members of the family angered the boy and he took the elder Bates to task for his conduct. In the quarrel, the young man drew a gun and shot twice at the father, but both bullets missed.

He then grabbed a hatchet and started after the old man, inflicting a bad wound in the head. John Bates grabbed a loaded shotgun and turned it on the boy, the entire load taking effect in his body, killing him almost instantly. Bates was placed under arrest.

Seeks to Find Trace of Relative.

In an effort to locate her long lost father and brother, Mrs. Verona D. Grant, of Toronto, Canada, has written to Mayor J. T. Hinton asking him to assist her in the search for her relatives. The letter to Mayor Hinton is as follows:

Toronto, October 3, 1910.
Dear Sir—You will confer a great favor if you could possibly locate my long lost brother, John James Gehler. My father's name was Joseph Gehler; my mother's name was Mary.

I am led to believe that my dear mother died at my birth. I was then taken and adopted by other parents who changed my name to theirs, therefore I was christened over again Verena Davis Miller.

If you can possibly find out the whereabouts of either my father or brother, as I have been told that I have a brother living somewhere in Kentucky, you will confer on your humble servant one of the greatest blessings.

Trusting that you will try to do something in this matter for me and awaiting your reply, I remain

Yours Respectfully,

MRS. VERENA D. GRANT.

RELIGIOUS.

—Elder Carey E. Morgan will be in his pulpit Sunday morning and evening at the Christian church, at the usual hours.

—Rev. Dr. B. M. Shive will be in his pulpit Sunday morning and evening. Morning services at 10:45 and evening at seven o'clock.

The following persons have recently united with the Presbyterian church and baptized: Sarah Elizabeth Thompson Mary Kenney Webber Nettie May Coy and Daniel Gurney Clay. Also the following who were dedicated to God by baptism in infancy: John Tunley Dundon and Favola Bratton Dundon.

—The members of the congregation of the Second Presbyterian church gave a reception Monday evening in the Sunday school room of the church in honor of the members of the congregation of the First Presbyterian church as a result of the recent reunion of the two congregations. In the receiving line were the pastor Dr. B. M. Shive and Mrs. Shive on behalf of the Southern church and Mrs. Belle Alexander on behalf of the Northern church and Mrs. V. K. Shipp who will leave shortly to join Mr. Shipp who has recently located in Altus, Oklahoma. Nearly two hundred guests were present, the hours being from 8 till 10. A general handshaking ensued and a genuine feeling of fellowship prevailed. Refreshments were served.

Increase in Rolling Stock.

In ten years the number of passenger cars in the United States has increased from 33,595 to 44,623. The number of freight cars has risen from 1,248,826 to 2,130,110, an increase of over 70 per cent, but their capacity has increased over 120 per cent, from 32,000,000 tons to 71,000,000 tons.

Claim Hooper Will Lose Out.

A news dispatch from Nashville yesterday says according to returns received the Fusion Democrats and Republicans will have forty-nine members in the lower house of the legislature against forty-one for the Regular Democrats. The regular Democrats appear to have the Senate by a small majority. They claim Hooper will never be seated.

Nicholas County Institute.

Miss Lida Gardner, County Superintendent of Nicholas county, seems to be arousing her people along educational lines.

The Carlisle Mercury has a lengthy account of an anticipated Educational all day rally at Carlisle Saturday, November 12.

Prizes to be given to the School districts bringing fifteen or more grown people, and to the one bringing the largest number of patrons.

An interesting program has been arranged, with a number of speakers from a distance, among whom may be mentioned, Dr. J. G. Crabbe, President of Richmond Normal; R. S. Eubank, editor of the Southern School Journal; Miss Mabel Robbins, County Superintendent of Bourbon, and Superintendent Geo. W. Chapman, of Paris Public Schools.

Such rallies are unquestionably productive of much good. More counties should have them.

Preparing to Restore Clay Monument.

Work on the scaffolding preparatory to the restoration of the Henry Clay monument in the Lexington cemetery, which was injured by lightning during an electrical storm some weeks ago, has been in progress for several days and is going rapidly forward.

Sculptor Mulligan of Chicago, who designed and executed the statue was in Lexington last week looking over the progress being made with the scaffolding and discussing plans for the work. While there he said that the new parts of the figure were about ready for shipment and that he would send them on his return to Chicago.

When they are received they will be put in place as soon as the work on the scaffolding which surrounds the shaft is complete. It is expected that the whole work of restoring the statue will be completed within two weeks.

Peculiar Excuse.

A teacher in a girls' school recently had the following excuse for absence handed her by one of her pupils: "It gives me much pleasure to write to you because I have a worryment, and you should please excuse my Annie, who does not come by you because she has to go to the hospital with her sister's sore eyes."

Rubber Planted on Waste Land.
The wide reaches of waste lands on the island of Singapore, which have been of no use since the culture of gambier, coffee, and pepper was given up, are now the scenes of great activity. Rubber plants are being set out over these wastes and seem to do well. In the suburbs of Singapore city a considerable area of swamp land has been drained and converted into a nursery for Para rubber plants, which are sold at a good profit to the planters.

Explanation Wanted.
"Oh, you are Mrs. Blitzer?" asked the vivacious and beautiful woman, on being introduced to her. "I have often met your husband. I must congratulate you. He is always such a happy-looking man. I have noticed that particularly every time he has chatted with me." That evening Mrs. Blitzer says calmly, but sternly to her husband: "Will you be so good as to tell me what makes you look happy when you are talking to other women?"—Judge.

Lots of Fun.
The sweet little sister of a large family was asked if she didn't have a lot of fun with the big brothers who were at once her slaves and tyrants, her adoring and adored. "Yes'm," came the surprising response, accompanied by a seraphic smile, "we have lots of fun always. Sometimes," the wide eyes waxing fascinatingly reminiscent and dreamy, "sometimes they fight me, an' sometimes I fight them!"

Few Knew Great Author.
Thackeray's literary work did not help him much when he sought to enter the house of commons. The Rev. Frederick Meyrick in his "Memories of Oxford" tells of a dinner given when he stood as a Liberal for that city: "I remarked to him that his must be a special experience, as he was known by fame to most of those whose votes he canvassed. 'Now,' he said, laying down his knife and fork and holding up a finger, 'there was only one man among all that I went to see who had heard my name before, and he was a circulating librarian. Such is mortal fame.' That was in 1857, ten years after the publication of 'Vanity Fair.'—London Chronicle.

Effect of Sound and Color.
Every one is familiar with the effects of sound upon the nervous. Harmonious sounds please and gratify, inharmonious sounds displease and irritate. Sweet music, the singing of birds, the purring of a brook, fall pleasantly upon the ear, soothing and delighting the hearer. The screeching of a rusty hinge, the banging of a door, the sound of a discordant piano, irritate and annoy the hearer. If long enough continued, such sounds will produce an evil condition of nervousness.

Fascination of Golf.
"I've heard of Nero a-playing on 'is fiddle, sir, when 'is 'ome was a-burnin'." said the landlady, putting down the local paper, "but this 'ere game of golf must be the most fascinating 'obby in the world. I've been reading about the fire up at the golf ground last Friday, and it says, 'The fire brigades promptly responded to the call, and when darkness closed in they were still playing upon the ruins of the clubhouse.'—Golf Illustrated.

Handed Down From the Past.
The fear of the dark has lasted long after the reason for that fear has gone. Just as the dog's habit of turning round and round before he lies down to sleep has lasted since the time when his ancestors, the wild wolf-dogs, used to turn round and round in the deep drifted leaves of the forest to make warm, sheltered beds to sleep in. The habit has lasted long after the need for it is over, and on the smooth hearth the dog still turns round and round.

Peculiar Church Ornament.
Lambeth "Old" church has numerous historic monuments, and in one of the windows is the full length figure of a peddler with his pack, staff and dog. This is supposed to represent the unknown person who presented "Peddler's Acre" to the parish upon condition that his portrait and that of his beloved canine companion should be preserved in the church and that his dog should be buried in consecrated ground.—Pall Mall Gazette.

PROVING A THEORY

"I've proved your theory, Celeste," said the young woman with fluffy hair, threading a needle with yellow silk and attacking a huge chrysanthemum centerpiece.

"Which theory?" inquired young Mrs. Allison, serenely. "I have so many, you know!"

"Why," explained the fluffy haired blonde, "the one you were airing the other day, of course. Yes, I know you air a good many every day, but this particular one was about the perverse fate that leads you to abuse some detail of your reputation of which you are particularly proud."

She went on stitching reminiscently. "Well," demanded her audience, "how can you prove it?"

"If there is one thing upon which I flatter myself," said the fluffy haired blonde, manifestly willing to share her grievance against fate, "it is the fact that I am not what you might call bromide."

"There you go," interrupted young Mrs. Allison, triumphantly. "You're proving the case against yourself!"

The fluffy haired blonde looked perplexed.

"For at least two years," went on young Mrs. Allison, taking the floor heatedly, "every one has gone about trying to label every one else as a bromide or a what is the other thing?"

"Sulphite?" suggested the fluffy haired blonde.

"Thank you, dear," said young Mrs. Allison. "I knew it was something explosive. And the inconsistency of it all is what astonishes me! Every presumptuous person who labels the rest of the world as bromide cherishes the secret conviction that he himself is the one scintillating exception, whereas—" she flitted the fluffy haired blonde with an accusing eye—

"whereas, I say, he thereby must certainly convict himself."

"You should have been a lawyer, Celeste," responded the fluffy haired blonde. "I plead guilty."

"But it's your only bad habit," said young Mrs. Allison, generously.

"You're innocent of other innocuous phrases!"

"What kind of phrases?" demanded the fluffy haired blonde with a frown.

"Innocuous," responded young Mrs. Allison, firmly. "It's almost insulting, but not quite, so you needn't lay it up against me. You see—"

"Hush, Celeste," interrupted the young matron with auburn braids. "We want to hear about this theory business. You don't mean 'innocuous,' anyway; what you mean is 'obnoxious.'"

The fluffy haired blonde laid aside her work. "Celeste is quite right in her theory," she admitted, amiably. "And I myself am not the scintillating exception, either. But I never had it fully demonstrated by myself to myself until last night."

"You see," she went on, "I was dining at the Berkeleys', and in the evening Mr. Dowland came in with some others. He is a professor of ethics, you know, and I've always fancied that he thought me rather clever. You can tell from the way they look at you—at least you think you can—as if they hesitated to inquire into the weighty thoughts that lie behind your outward calm."

"Well, he sat down beside me and waited for a brilliant conversational opening. And right then I subscribed to Celeste's theory of the perversity of vanity. My mind went around and around in a neat little circle, and when articulation became necessary, I said: 'What a warm summer we have been having!' Then I added: 'What a bromide remark!'"

"He looked at me in a puzzled sort of way, and said with a smile that it was a perfectly good remark, nevertheless. Then I asked him if he didn't think bromide people more comfortable to get on with, anyway."

Young Mrs. Allison groaned. "My dear," she said, "nothing remained then but for you to ask him what he had been reading lately."

"I came to that later," admitted the fluffy haired blonde, meekly. "When the next pause needed filling my vocal apparatus had become automatic, and the question shaped itself."

"He gave me one plying look and replied: 'Nothing much except my regular lecture work. But what have you been reading yourself?'"

The fluffy haired blonde sat up straight and the light of great moral inspiration came into her face: "Never ask that question of your helpless friends," she said. "They probably haven't been reading anything at all. As a matter of fact they have undoubtedly been having a dressmaker in the house doing summer sewing, and the fashion plates then are their only literary indulgence. They'll hate to admit in intellectual society that they've been delving into the mysteries of the latest thing in over-skirts."

"I did admit it to the professor, though," she added, "and the disillusioned man went sadly away with the impression that I was a shallow young person, after all."

"Never mind," remarked Mrs. Allison, soothingly. "That professor is wall-eyed, anyway."

"So he is," said the fluffy-haired blonde, with a sigh, "but you know yourself that it's nice to be admired."

The opinions of other people would be more interesting if they did not conflict with our own.

DEMOCRATS VICTORIOUS

ELECT DIX GOVERNOR OF NEW YORK AND ENTIRE TICKET IN OTHER STATES

BEVERIDGE BEATEN

Twelve Democratic Congressmen Elected in Indiana

West Virginia Elects Democratic Congressmen

Landslide Hits State of Kentucky and Nine Congressmen Returned Winners—Cannon Re-elected—Hooper the Choice in Tennessee.

RESULTS IN NEW YORK.

John A. Dix, Dem. 299,078
Henry L. Stimson, Rep. 194,707
John J. Hopper, Ind. 39,664

Dix's plurality 66,675
Stimson's up-state plurality 36,696
Legislature won by the Democrats.

Democrats win seven Congressmen.
Successor to United States Senator Depew will be a Democrat.

Herbert Parsons and Congressman Cocks, friends of Roosevelt, defeated.

Sereno Payne re-elected.

New York.—John A. Dix has been elected governor of New York state, and on January 1, for the first time since 1893, a Democrat will be at the head of the state government.

Manhattan and the Bronx complete give Dix 165,229, Stimson 96,951, Hopper 20,661.

Thus New York city, with but a few election districts missing, gives Dix 200,078, Stimson 194,707, Hopper 39,664.

With the election of Mr. Dix and all of his associates on the state ticket, and the legislature closer than it has been in years, if it is not Democratic on joint ballot, Theodore Roosevelt met the most crushing defeat of his political career.

As has been stated throughout these dispatches throughout the campaign, the fight was against former President Roosevelt.

It was a landslide all over New York state, as it appears to have been in every other direction and in all localities. At night the main thoroughfares of Gotham were alive with people, bands and a tremendous crowd, so joyous and wild in their hilarity that the like was never seen.

New York Went Wild.

It was a hysterical, yelling, fierce crowd—glad, it appeared, that it was all over and that Roosevelt was sent to the rear. It was a wild night in New York.

William Barnes, jr., leader of the old guard, which went down to defeat at the Saratoga convention, called attention to the fact that it was the counties which supported Roosevelt, in the convention which did not support him at the polls.

To complete the defeat and humiliation of Col. Roosevelt: his home district went Democratic. Mr. Dix received a plurality of 60 over his opponent. Two years ago President Taft carried the district by 288. This defeat for his candidate, practically in his own dooryard, was entirely unexpected by Col. Roosevelt, and when the news was broken he ground his teeth, but lapsed into silence.

Tammany Hall gave Mr. Dix one of its old-time record votes in Manhattan and the Bronx.

Indications are that the Democratic landslide has carried with it every Democratic nominee in Manhattan and the Bronx. The delegation in the House of Representatives will be solidly Democratic, and the gain of two seats. Even Herbert Parsons, intimate friend and follower of Mr. Roosevelt, went down to defeat. The state senators and assemblymen are also Democratic, these candidates running well up with the heads of the ticket.

The Dix plurality will go down as one of the largest in the history of Tammany Hall, being second only to that given Byrd S. Coler in 1902. The plurality that year was $6,000. In 1906 the plurality was 63,136 in New York county, and two years ago the Fourteenth street organization received a plurality of 49,595 for Mr. Chanler.

Rebuke "New Nationalism."
The Tammany Hall leaders gave credit for their wonderful victory in part to the anti-Roosevelt movement, which, they said, was in evidence everywhere.

Lloyd C. Griscom had great hopes following the demonstration given Roosevelt on his last tour. The Republican camp was aroused by the false hope that the great outpouring meant votes.

"I always conceded New York county to Dix, but I am unable as yet to estimate his plurality," said Mr. Griscom, when the early returns began to rudely dash aside his hopes.

Mr. Griscom's home district, the Twenty-ninth, made one of the worst showings in Manhattan.

Republicans Revolt.
The Republican revolt in those two strongholds, including the sections along Central Park on the East Side, amounted almost to a political revolution. The vote in the Twenty-seventh was 2,787 for Stimson and 4,919 for Dix. Mr. Hughes received 5,239 votes two years ago and Mr. Chanler 4,153.

It was from Buffalo that the first flash came which indicated the Dix victory. The returns came in before 7 o'clock, due to the fact that voting machines are used.

Neighbors True to Dix.
Essex county, near the home of Mr. Dix, showed one of the largest Democratic gains. It gave the Republican candidate a plurality of 700, a loss of more than 2,000 compared with two years ago.

The Republicans of Albany repudiated the humiliation heaped upon Mr. Barnes at Saratoga, and gave the Roosevelt candidate a plurality of 1,000, but considerable more to the rest of the state ticket, and elected the entire Republican county ticket.

At the Roosevelt Home.
Oyster Bay.—Mr. Roosevelt traveled into Oyster Bay and cast the Sagamore Hill vote. Kermit Roosevelt had come from Harvard to cast his first vote, and the youth had voted proudly and gayly. From that time there was little from Sagamore Hill.

"Win or lose," Mr. Roosevelt had said when on his way to the polling place, "I shall keep up the fight for progressive Republicanism. I may lose this battle, but I won't lose the campaign. There are other battles yet to fight."

No word came from Mr. Roosevelt after he had learned that the battle had been a rout.

After dinner a light glowed faintly in the library, where Mr. Roosevelt was suffering alone. The gates at Sagamore Hill remained locked.

"Father has nothing to say," he announced. "Father says he will have nothing to say. He has learned at there is to learn. He knows that Mr. Dix has been elected and that Massachusetts, New Jersey and many other states too numerous to mention have gone Democratic."

Then the lights went out and the telephone and telegraph wires were shut off.

Gains Made All Over the Country By Democrats.

Chicago.—Democrats have gained 40 seats in the national house of representatives, assuring them not only control, but a substantial majority. The Democratic gross gain, however, is reduced to a net gain of 37 by three Republican gains.

In order to gain control of the house it was necessary for the Democrats to elect 24 new members. Assuming the party will retain its representation in states not heard from, it is apparent the Democrats have 13 members in excess of the 24 necessary to give them control.

The definite Democratic gains known were: New York, 8; Pennsylvania, 3; North Carolina, 2; Ohio, 7; Massachusetts, 2; Maryland, 2; Connecticut, 1; Illinois, 1; Iowa, 1; Kentucky, 1; Missouri, 1; West Virginia, 1. The Republican gains were: Massachusetts, 1; New York, 1; Pennsylvania, 1.

PROGRESSIVES WILL CONTROL.

The Progressives will be in control of the Republican party in the next national house of representatives. Furthermore, the Progressives have obtained a secure foothold from which to reach out for the control of the organization of the Republican party in 1912.

Progressive Republicans in Congress.
The gain made by the Progressives as a result of balloting follow:

Senate—7, 1910; 11, 1911; gain, 4.
House—23, 1910; 63, 1911; gain, 30.
Totals—40, 1910; 74, 1911; gain 34.

Progressive Republicans by States in the House.

California—1, 1910; 3, 1911; gain, 3.
Illinois—... 1910; 3, 1911; gain, 3.
Indiana—... 1910; 2, 1911; gain, 2.
Iowa—7, 1910; 9, 1911; gain, 2.
Kansas—2, 1910; 6, 1911; gain, 4.
Massachusetts—1, 1910; 1, 1911; gain, ...
Michigan—... 1910; 1, 1911; gain, 1.
Minnesota—5, 1910; 6, 1911; gain, 1.
Nebraska—3, 1910; 5, 1911; gain, 2.
New Jersey—1, 1910; 1, 1911; gain, ...
New York—2, 1910; 4, 1911; gain, 2.
North Dakota—1, 1910; 2, 1911; gain 1.
Ohio—... 1910; 3, 1911; gain, 3.
Oregon—... 1910; 1, 1911; gain, 1.
Pennsylvania—... 1910; 3, 1911; gain, ...
South Dakota—1, 1910; 1, 1911; gain, ...
Washington—1, 1910; 2, 1911; gain, 1.
Wisconsin—8, 1910; 10, 1911; gain, 2.
Totals—33, 1910; 63, 1911; gain, 30.

Remarkably significant was the unmistakable popularity of the progressive Republican movement with the people. While Standpat Republicans were slaughtered by the voters in droves, nearly every Progressive candidate came across the line a winner.

New York—Nominally the people were voting for governor; really they were passing judgment upon Theodore Roosevelt. The result is a severe setback for Roosevelt.

JUDSON HARMON IS RE-ELECTED

Legislature Somewhat in Doubt As to Majority.

DEMOCRATIC GAINS DECISIVE

Republicans Claim Balance of State Ticket and the Legislature—Hamilton County Goes Republican By Small Majority.

OHIO DELEGATION.

Ohio's delegation in Congress will be as follows:

First District—Nicholas Longworth, Rep.

Second District—Herman P. Goebel, Rep.

Third District—James M. Cox, Dem.

Fourth District—J. Henry Goeke, Dem.

Fifth District—Timothy T. Ansberry, Dem.

Sixth—Matt R. Deaver, Dem.

Seventh—J. D. Post, Dem.

Eighth—Frank R. Willis, Rep.

Ninth—Isaac R. Sherwood, Dem.

Tenth—Albert T. Switzer, Rep.

Eleventh—H. C. Claypool, Dem.

Twelfth—R. L. Taylor, Rep.

Thirteenth—Carl C. Anderson, Dem.

Fourteenth—William G. Sharp, Dem.

Fifteenth—George White, Dem.

Sixteenth—David A. Hollingsworth, Rep.

Seventeenth—W. A. Ashbrook, Dem.

Eighteenth—James Kennedy, Rep.

Nineteenth—W. Aubrey Thomas, Rep.

Twentieth—Paul Howland, Rep.

Twenty-first—Robert Bulkley, Dem.

Columbus.—Gov. Harmon has swept Ohio by at least 50,000 plurality.

In the proud moment of victory the governor announces that his election is to be regarded not as a personal victory, but a triumph for good government. This was his principal argument to his audiences everywhere in the state.

While the returns are meager on other offices, there are enough to determine the governorship most decisively. At midnight his opponent, Mr. Harding, at his Marion home, while refusing to make a statement, admitted that the outlook was discouraging.

The returns from the rural districts were showing a steady and impressive trend toward his rival, and the expected slump of the cities showed only in Cincinnati.

Gov. Harmon made a wonderful race in Cleveland and in Dayton. Here Congressman M. Cox won a notable victory, carrying the National Soldiers' home and rolling up a majority of over 10,000 in the Third district. In this city city, where it was thought Gov. Harmon would lose on account of the street car strike, he appears to have triumphed and turned the tables on his adversaries, who made political capital of it. In Toledo, where ex-President Roosevelt launched his bolt, Gov. Harmon increased his plurality of 1908.

In fact, it was demonstrated that wherever Roosevelt spoke there was a gain made by the man he attacked.

As for the general assembly it is close in any event, but the trend favors Democratic control. The victors of to-day seem to have held their own in counties won two years ago and have made gains in unexpected places.

The congressional fights in some districts are not yet settled. Kennedy, of the Eighteenth, seems to have won after a hard fight, and so has Willis in the Eighth. In the Fifteenth, Twentieth and Twenty-first districts the Democrats seem to have won.

Dayton.—The entire Democratic county ticket has been elected by a majority of about 2,000. These precincts have given Harmon 6,046 and Harding 4,491.

For congress James M. Cox has received so far 6,761 and his opponent, George R. Young, 3,837. It is estimated that Congressman Cox's majority in the district will aggregate 5,000. It appears that all three of the Democratic candidates, Gebhart, Donson and Roth, for the legislature, have been re-elected by majorities ranging from 2,500 to 3,000, while the Democratic senatorial candidates, Colons and Cahill, will win by approximately 3,000.

Hamilton County.—Hamilton County has been elected by a small majority.

Toledo.—Harmon ran way ahead of his ticket this year in Toledo, the next best man on the ticket being Congressman Isaac R. Sherwood, who, according to early returns, will carry Lucas county by approximately 1,200. Congressman Sherwood at midnight is claiming his re-election from the Ninth district by 4,000.

The main feature of the election in Lucas county, however, was the phenomenal showing made here by the Socialist ticket, which will poll close to 8,000 votes. This vote fairly startled the leaders of both political parties, and formed the main topic of interest at both headquarters. Their vote seemed to come principally from the Independent Democratic voters, and without question caused the defeat of several of the Independent Democratic county candidates.

Marion.—Warren G. Harding, Republican candidate for governor of Ohio, deposited his ballot in a barn in Precinct B, Fourth ward. It did not take him long to vote. Four years ago when Harding voted in the same place a bantam rooster flew upon a manger and crowed. The lamented John M. Pattison was elected governor, defeating Myron T. Herrick. "Somebody recalled the incident, and remarked that no rooster was in evidence when the gubernatorial candidate voted this time.

Message From President Taft.
Mr. Harding received the following telegram, dated at Cincinnati, from President Taft:

"I congratulate you on your wonderful canvass. No matter what the result to-day, you have commended your self to your fellow citizens, and have effectually united Republican ranks for future contests."

Timothy S. Hogan, Democratic candidate for attorney general, reported to Democratic state headquarters that his own county, Jackson, normally Republican, will give Gov. Harmon 400 plurality, a Democratic gain of 700.

HUGH L. NICHOLS,
Chairman of the Democratic State Executive Committee, Who Had Charge of Democratic Campaign.

PRESIDENT TAFT VOTED IN CINCINNATI.

President Taft arrived in Cincinnati Tuesday morning and cast his vote in Precinct H of the Second ward at 11:25. The president left on the 3 o'clock Pennsylvania train for Washington.

Returns from the election fraught with interest most unusual for an "off year" caught the president on the wing. The president traveled all through election night.

Arrangement were made in the telegraphic division at the white house to furnish the president promptly with all the news available in Washington. Special wires were looped into the telegraph room at the executive offices and concise bulletins were prepared and forwarded from there to the president's train. President Taft knew the result of the election when he reached Pittsburgh.

This is the first time, as far as can be recalled by white house attaches, that such a novel plan has had to be devised to inform a president of important election results.

Massachusetts.—Congressman Foss, Republican, who is now a Democrat, defeated Eben Draper for governor in a repetition of Republican Maine's repudiation of the tariff.

TENNESSEE HAS GONE TO REPUBLICANS

Captain Hooper Defeats "Bob" Taylor by 10,000 Majority.

Nashville.—Capt. B. W. Hooper, Spanish war veteran and candidate of the Republicans, who was also endorsed by Independent or Carmack Democrats, was elected governor of Tennessee by a plurality of from 10,000 to 25,000.

United States Senator Robert L. Taylor, the harmony candidate, substituted by straight Democrats for Gov. Patterson little more than a month ago, faced his first political defeat after having served as governor on three occasions. Tennessee will have the first Republican governor in nearly 30 years as a result of this break in the "Solid South." Seth McCallen, the Socialist candidate, was given but a handful of votes over the entire state.

Although friends of Senator Taylor at Democratic headquarters, including Chairman Vertrees, were confident up to a late hour that the complete returns would show him leading by at least 10,000 majority over Hooper, at Republican headquarters they stopped counting returns early when Hooper's landslide in East Tennessee counties was accompanied by failure of Taylor to sweep the western part of the state with the gains that were anticipated.

Although complete returns may be necessary in two districts, the indications are that the usual two Republican congressmen from the First and Second districts will be returned, while eight remaining congressmen will be Democratic.

Democrats claim control of both branches of the legislature, but Republicans are confident that with their representatives and senators, combined with the Independents, Hooper will have control, which would mean the naming of Republican federal senators to succeed Taylor and Frazier.

Although there were many issues, including the liquor question, in which the Republicans advocated state-wide prohibition against local option for the Democrats, the chief issue lay in the elimination of what Independents and Republicans referred to as "Pattersonism," caused by the Carmack tragedy, followed by the pardon of Col. Duncan B. Cooper, one of the convicted slayers of Senator Carmack.

REPUBLICAN SENATOR

West Virginia Will Send Scott to the Upper House.

Charleston.—Returns received at the state capital show that West Virginia, the first of the southern states to break the solid south, has been partially redeemed by the Democracy.

Democratic congressmen have been elected in the First and Second district, with the legislature in doubt, but probably Republican on joint ballot, insuring a Republican senator to succeed Nathan Bay Scott in the United States senate.

Charles Carrigan, Republican candidate in the First district, was beaten by John W. Davis, of Clarksburg, while in the Second district the returns show that W. G. Brown, of Preston county, will succeed Congressman George C. Sturgiss, of Morgantown.

Joseph Holt Gaines, member of the ways and means committee from the Third West Virginia district, was re-elected over Senator Adam B. Littlepage. Gaines has carried Kanawha county by 900 majority. His plurality in Upshur county, combined with that of Fayette and Kanawha counties, will give him 2,000 plurality over Littlepage in the district.

Congressman James A. Hughes, of the Fifth district, was re-elected by 2,000 plurality over Rankin Wiley, of Mason county, although his home county of Cabell has given a majority of 1,200 against him.

The contest of the house of delegates was very close. Ohio, Cabell, Marion, Putnam, Boone, Nicholas, Pocahontas, Harrison and Berkeley have sent Republicans to the house of delegates. It is claimed by Republicans that Senator Scott will be elected to the state senate.

CANNON RE-ELECTED WITH USUAL MAJORITY.

Cook County Democratic First Time in Fourteen Years.

Chicago.—The Democrats made practically a clean sweep in Cook county. For the first time in 14 years the minority party will reign supreme in the big patronage offices.

With pluralities ranging from 10,000 to 25,000, the Democrats captured the offices of sheriff, county treasurer, county clerk, probate judge, county judge, clerk of the probate court, clerk of the criminal court and county superintendent of schools.

The Republican president and members of the sanitary district were engulfed in the landslide, and the Republican president and members of the county board elected from the city suffered the same fate. Only the five country town members of the county board went through.

Reports from all sections of the country showed that the poll proceeded quietly, with no indications of election disorder and with a heavy vote at all points. The weather at most points was propitious for bringing out the vote. Snow had fallen in New York state and other eastern localities, but west and south the weather generally was clear and cold. The exceptional interest taken in the election was shown by the heavy vote reported from many points early during the day.

DEMOCRATIC LANDSLIDE

Hit the State of Kentucky and Congressmen Re-elected.

REPUBLICAN JUDGE IS ELECTED

Caleb Powers Won Spectacular Race in Eleventh District—Byrd May Be Defeated.

Frankfort, Ky.—The tail-end of the Democratic landslide struck Kentucky as the returns indicate that the Democrats were able to redeem but one congressional district that has been Republican for a number of years, and may have lost an appellate judge. The line-up of the Kentucky delegation in congress at the next session will be: Second District—H. O. Stanley, Dem., Henderson.

Third District—R. Y. Thomas, Dem., Elkton.

Fourth District—Ben Johnson, Dem., Bardonia.

Fifth District—Swager Shirley, Dem., Louisville, Ky.

Sixth District—A. B. Rouse, Dem., Burlington.

Seventh District—J. C. Cantrill, Dem., Georgetown.

Eighth District—Harvey Helm, Dem., Stanford.

Ninth District—W. J. Field, Dem., Grayson.

Tenth District—John Langley, Rep., Prestonsburg.

Eleventh District—Caleb Powers, Rep., Barbourville.

The Democrats refuse to concede the election of Langley, claiming that complete returns will show the election of Floyd Byrd, Dem., Winchester.

In the appellate judge race in the Fourth district between Shackelford Miller, Dem., and R. W. Bingham, Fusion, is close, both sides claiming victory. It may require the official count to decide the contest.

Judge Warren E. Settle, Jr., Dem., Bowling Green, is re-elected appellate judge in the Second district by 4,000.

Judge J. T. Nunn, Dem., Marion, is re-elected in the First, without opposition.

The returns from the Sixth appellate district assures the re-election of Judge John E. Lassing, Dem., Newport.

There was a woeful lack of interest taken in the election and the smallest vote in years seems to have been cast.

The win for Judge Settle is taken as a victory for the "non-partisan bench" idea, as many Republicans advised against opposition to him, as he had never considered politics on the bench. He reversed the judgment in the Caleb Powers cases, giving him re-trials.

Democratic Machine.
If Judge Miller wins out in the Fourth district it will mean a victory for the regular Democratic machine, as former Mayor Bingham was the independent candidate.

There was never any doubt about Congressman Shirley's re-election, as he is regarded the leader of the Kentucky delegation and is very popular personally.

The serious charges made against Congressman Campbell Cantrill in the Seventh District and the bitter opposition to him by the Burley Tobacco organization gave the independent voters hope that M. C. Rankin, the Republican candidate, would win. In the closing days of the campaign the Republicans deserted Rankin because he put no enthusiasm into the campaign and did not take the stump. Rankin may have something to say later about the conduct of his campaign. Rankin carried three counties in the district—something wonderful.

Cantrill only polled about 60 per cent of the Democrat vote and Rankin 75 per cent of the Republican vote.

III With Typhoid.
Nonline Fields in the Ninth district was ill with typhoid fever during the greater part of the campaign, but there was widespread opposition to the incumbent and Fields won.

Langley probably wins because of his splendid organization. He kept in touch with every man in his district.

The vote in the Eleventh district shows that Senator Bertram will certainly figure in the make-up of the next Democratic state ticket, as will Congressman Ben Johnson, who carried every county in the Fourth district.

There is marked evidence that both parties stood pat in practically all of the districts.

Where local issues predominated the Independents won and where national issues were paramount the Democrats were victorious.

There is a report here to-night that if the House is Democratic an effort will be made to prevent Caleb Powers from taking his seat.

Taft Gets the News.
Pittsburg.—The first news of the complexion of election returns from the various states were received by President Taft when he reached this city, on his way from Cincinnati, where he had gone to vote, to Washington. A summary of the results was placed in the president's hands, but he would make no comment upon them. He had cast his vote at Cincinnati shortly before noon and left that city at 3:15 p. m.

Looking Back.

You will find, as you look back upon your life, that the moments that stand out—the moments when you have really lived—are the moments when you have done things in a spirit of love. As memory scans the past, above and beyond all the transitory pleasures of life there leap forward those supreme hours when you have been enabled to do unnoticed kindnesses to those round about you, things too trifling to speak about, but which you feel have entered into your eternal life.—Henry Drummond.

The Real Thing.

Fred, aged three, had been a naughty boy, and his mother had punished him. He felt very much hurt and complained to his auntie about his mamma's spanking him. Auntie said: "It is not you that mamma spans, but a little devil inside of you who makes you do naughty things." After sitting very still for five minutes he said: "It beats all how it hurts me when that devil gets spanked."—The Deileator.

Mary's Revenge.

Mary was a little girl who did not like to wait, but one day her mother, having several guests, Mary was made to wait anyway, so just about the time dinner was under good headway, she poked her little curly head in at the dining-room door and said: "I don't care if I do have to wait; that was an old sick turkey, anyhow."—Norman E. Mack's National Monthly.

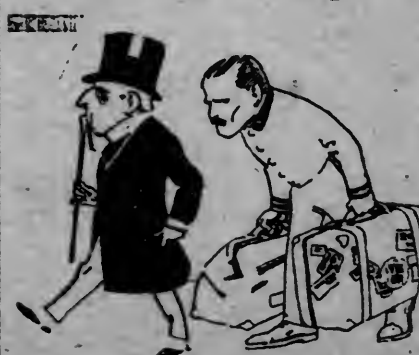

French Woman's Long Sleep.

A curious case is that of a woman in the hospital at Alencon, France, who has been asleep for 20 days, and, unlike most patients who fall into a lethargy, this patient has a perfectly normal temperature. Her teeth are rigidly set, and she has to be fed through a tube, which was introduced with great difficulty, and has been left between her teeth.

Vain Attempt to Show Off.

A youthful masculine, scarce three years old, was listening to a story by his mother, but despite his devotion to her stories, kept making unaccountable excursions to a clear space on the park lawn and solemnly airing his sole physical accomplishment of a neat somersault. The mother wondered, but asked no questions. Presently, however, the mystery was explained. Another boy, seated near the open space with his parents, rose and walked away. The little acrobat sighed sadly. "I guess he never even saw me," he remarked.

Physicians Advise

the use of a good laxative, to keep the bowels open and prevent the poisons of undigested food from getting into your system.

The latest product of science is VELVO Laxative Liver Syrup, purely vegetable, gentle, reliable and of a pleasant, aromatic taste. Velvo acts on the liver, as well as on the stomach and bowels, and is of the greatest possible efficacy in constipation, indigestion, biliousness, sick headache, feverishness, colic, flatulence, etc. Try

VELVO LAXATIVE LIVER SYRUP

After The Grippe

"I am much pleased, to be able to write and thank you for what Cardui has done for me," writes Mrs. Sarah J. Gilliland, of Siler City, N. C.

"Last February, I had the Grippe, which left me in bad shape. Before that, I had been bothered with female trouble, for ten years, and nothing seemed to cure it.

"At last, I began to take Cardui. I have taken only three bottles, but it has done me more good than all the doctors or than any other medicine I ever took."

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

For the after-effects of any serious illness, like the Grip, Cardui is the best tonic you can use.

It builds strength, steadies the nerves, improves the appetite, regulates irregularities and helps bring back the natural glow of health.

Cardui is your best friend, if you only knew it. Think of the thousands of ladies whom Cardui has helped! What could possibly prevent it from helping you?

Remember you cannot get the benefit of the Cardui ingredients in any other medicine, for they are not for sale in any drug store except in the Cardui bottle. Try Cardui.

Dandruff and Itching Scalp Yield to This Remedy.

Why experiment trying to drive the dandruff germ from beneath the skin with greasy lotions or fancy hair-dressing when druggists everywhere and in Paris W. T. Brooks' drug store will guarantee ZEMO and ZEMO Soap to entirely rid the scalp of the germ life that causes the trouble.

ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP can be obtained in any city or town in America and are recognized the best and most economical treatment for all affections of the skin or scalp whether on infant or grown person. One shampoo with ZEMO SOAP and application of ZEMO will stop itching and cleans the scalp of dandruff and scurf. Application of ZEMO and use of ZEMO soap will cure the most obstinate case of eczema or skin disease.

We invite you to try ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP and if not entirely satisfied we will refund your money.

Dupes Still in Majority.
The Duke of Wellington once expressed to Isquierdo his wonder at the enormous number of charlatans that there were in the world. Isquierdo quietly said: "I beg your pardon; I do not think there are enough—in proportion to the dupes."

Will Promote Beauty.

Women desiring beauty get wonderful help from Bucklen's Arnica salve. It banishes pimples, skin eruptions, sores and boils. It makes the skin soft and velvety. It glorifies the face. Cures sore eyes, cold sores, cracked lips, chapped hands. Best for burns, scalds, fever sores, cuts, bruises and piles. 25 cents at Oberdorfer's.

A Solemn Thought.
"A hearty laugh is a good thing for indigestion," says one of the doctors. In these days the trouble is to find the thing that will provoke a hearty laugh.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Shall Women Vote?

If they did, millions would vote Dr. King's New Life Pills the true remedy for women. For banishing dull, lagged feelings, backache or headache, constipation, dispelling colds, imparting appetite and toning up the system, they're unequalled. Easy, safe and sure. 25 cents at Oberdorfer's.

Oldest Shot Tower.
The oldest shot tower in the world, which William Watts made in Bristol, England, in 1769, by sawing a hole in the center of the floors of a house and building a well in the cellar, is still in operation.

Saves an Iowa Man's Life.

The very grave seemed to yawn before Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Iowa, when after seven weeks in the hospital, four of the best physicians gave him up. Then was shown the marvelous curative power of Electric Bitters. For eight months of frightful suffering from liver trouble and yellow jaundice, getting no help from other remedies or doctors, five bottles of this matchless remedy completely cured him. Its positively guaranteed for stomach, liver or kidney troubles and never disappoints. Only 50 cents at Oberdorfer's.

Groan From Disgruntled One.
An Englishman says American women make poor wives. He must have married one who misrepresented to him the amount of her father's fortune.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Not Sorry for Blunder.

"If my friends hadn't blundered in thinking I was a doomed victim of consumption, I might not be alive now," writes D. T. Sanders, of Harrodsburg, Ky., "but for years they saw every attempt to cure a nerve-racking cough fail. At last I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. The effect was wonderful. It soon stopped the cough and I am now in better health than I have had for years. This wonderful life-saver is an unrivaled remedy for coughs, colds, la-grippe, asthma, croup, hemorrhages, whooping cough or weak lungs. 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Oberdorfer."

Low Temperature.
If a married man comes home a little late in the day, he finds his supper cold; if he comes home a little late at night, he finds his wife cold.—Judge.

For a Clean Cellar.
When whitewashing a cellar add a tablespoonful of carbolic acid to every pailful of the whitewash. This is the best purifier you can have.

Literary Tastes.
"It's a funny thing," mused an old subway guard, "to notice the difference between the tastes of men and women who read on the trains. For a whole week I kept a pretty close tab on the people in my car and this is what I discovered. Women stick to books—popular novels as a rule—while the men cling to newspapers. When I struck an average at the end of a week I found that there were seventeen newspaper readers among the men to one woman. As book readers the women outclassed the men six to one. Among the men three out of four seem to give about all their attention to the sporting pages."—New York Sun.

Powerful British Windmill.
What is claimed as the largest and most powerful windmill in Great Britain has just been completed at Willesden, where its capacity is being tried under varying conditions. It is intended for a farm near Bristol, its use there being to generate electricity, supply power to run crushing machinery and work the pumps. From the trials made it is said this new wind machine is capable of generating sufficient electricity for 300 lights, to crush oats and grind maize, work an electric lift, cook the food and heat a room at a cost of 1/4d a unit.

Clever Evasion of Law.
A saloon keeper in East New York has a novel way of evading the Sunday excise law and giving his neighbors and friends a wet Sunday if they care to have one. On an iron gate leading into the yard in the rear of his place he has put a lock. He has had 250 keys made to give out to those he knows. Nobody gets in who can't open the lock. A man sits close to the gate and closes it after each one comes in.

Disaster in Train of Pen.
Recurs the story of the Indian chief who had been persuaded to sign a new treaty. He stood for all the preliminaries, but when the pen was produced he showed decided tendencies toward backing out the nearest doorway. "What's the matter with him?" asked the agent. "He says," translated the interpreter, "that he notices every time he uses that thing he loses something."

A Strange Fatality.
An unusual fatal accident happened at New York when a sheet of window glass knocked from its frame fell five stories and killed Miss Lena Phillips. She was almost decapitated. The pane of glass, which became unfastened while being washed, sailed obliquely through the air and struck the neck of Miss Phillips, who was walking on the street below.

Pigeon Worth Owning.
A Manchester, England, firm of mill owners is reported to be possessed of a pigeon which has been employed as a messenger from one mill to another for over ten years. During that period it has made over 2,000 journeys and traveled over 29,000 miles. It is calculated that to have sent the messages by wire would have cost £300.

Bull Terriers as Mourners.
Three bull terriers followed a hearse conveying the body of an old dog fancier named George Lacey of Smith street, Kennington, as far as Tooting cemetery the other day. They wore crape bows and on their cloth coats was written: "Following our master to his last resting place."—London Evening Standard.

Tenant's Reward.
A certain landlord called on a tenant one day and said: "Jones, I'm going to raise your rent." "What for?" Jones asked, anxiously. "Have taxes gone up?" "No, not at all," the landlord answered, "but I see you've painted the house and put in a new range and bathtub. That, of course, ought to make it bring more rent."

This is Rather Neat.
An English critic of American social conditions says that men in this country are too much inclined to put women on pedestals. The only answer to such criticism is pity for the nation that has not such a beautifully decorative use for pedestals.

Worse Still.
"My wife is getting to be very tiresome," complained Groucher; "she does not seem to know her own mind from one minute to the next." "My wife," said Kratchett, "is the same way. She's as uncertain as the weather." "Huh! Mine's as uncertain as the weather forecaster."

Divorce Statistics.
In England and Wales, to every 100,000 of population, there are annually granted two divorces; in Ireland, less than one; in Italy, three; in Scotland, four; in Germany, fifteen; in France, twenty-three; and in the United States, seventy-three.

Berlin Not So Slow.
In Berlin, where much wood is burned, they are not so slow. A motor truck drives up to a house and delivers a load of logs. A motor sawing machine rolls up under its own power, cuts, with saws run by gasoline, the wood into fireplace lengths as desired, cleans up the litter and moves on. Very little noise.

Slowly made, surely good.

L. & N. Sued by Burley Society.

Suit for damages in the sum of $50,000 was filed late Wednesday afternoon in the Bourbon Circuit Court by the Burley Tobacco Society against the Louisville and Nashville railroad for the loss by fire at Millersburg, this county, of many hogheads of 1909 pooled tobacco valued at the amount sued for.

The petition alleges that the defendant company, through negligence and defective equipment, caused a storage warehouse containing pooled tobacco to take fire from sparks from a passing locomotive, causing the warehouse and its contents and the contents of another warehouse adjoining to be destroyed.

THEATRICAL.

"Il Trovatore," sung at the Grand Opera House Wednesday evening by the Sheehan Grand Opera Company, a well-nigh all-star cast was heard by a comparatively small audience considering the character of the attraction. The audience was made up mostly of the music loving people of the community who were highly pleased with the efforts of the company.

Mr. Joseph H. Sheehan, as Manrico, made a decidedly favorable impression with his rich, strong voice. The minor parts of the opera were admirably handled and the piece was elaborate with its beautiful staging and costuming.

From the fact that there was such a small audience present to hear "Il Trovatore" it is very evident the people of Paris do not appreciate such a class of attractions the ultimate result which will be Paris will soon be unable to secure any high class theatrical attractions.

The Comet theatre, corner Fifth and Main streets, is attracting the people with an excellent program of motion pictures and illustrated songs. The theatre, though open less than a week is gaining in popularity and promises a means of furnishing the people with place of amusement second to none in the State. The motion pictures are the newest and the illustrated songs the latest. The theatre is open every afternoon and evening, with a complete change of pictures and songs daily.

The Comet has added two features which should prove drawing cards. The services of Prof. Weaver, pianist, have been secured and Miss Mabel Carroll will sing the illustrated songs. Miss Carroll possesses a voice rich with melody and will be heard at each show. Owing to the almost unanimous request of the people, and particularly the young people, the Comet will be open Sunday afternoon from 1 to 5:30 o'clock, at which time scenic views, travalogues and motion pictures of a like nature will be presented.

The Paris Grand will close its vaudeville season Saturday night for the winter, which is due in a great measure to the falling off in the patronage of the theatre, occasioned by the cold weather which has the effect of keeping the people in doors at night. It will, however, be resumed in the spring. The fact that this is the last week of vaudeville is not keeping the management from furnishing high class attractions and last night one of the best bills of the season was presented. Tonight will be the last chance of the week and Bedau and Payne, the boys with the Xylophone, who were on the bill last week and who furnished an entertainment of the highest class, will be heard again.

Friday, November 18, will be the last day for the filing of suits with the Circuit Clerk for the November term of the Bourbon Circuit Court.

Not Yet in Sight.

The successor to Dr. W. C. Ussery as President of the Blue Grass League is not yet in sight. So far as can be learned there is no one slated for the position, at the election which is to be the chief feature of the meeting of the directors of the league to be held in this city next Monday.

Small Fire.

Ashes dumped against a coal house in the rear of the residence of Mr. W. M. Hinton on Main street caused a small fire Wednesday afternoon. The Fire Department responded to the call from Box 31 and extinguished the blaze, which caused but little damage.

Partners Dissolve.

By mutual agreement the firm of Kenney & Dudley has been dissolved and in the future they will practice individually. Dr. Dudley will retain the offices occupied by the firm and Dr. Kenney will occupy the flats vacated by Mrs. Mary Paton, who will open her beauty parlors in the store room vacated by the Paris Democrat.

Thanksgiving Turkeys.

Chas. S. Brent & Bro. of this city, received yesterday at their pens in Paris, Carlisle, Millersburg and Flemingsburg, 3,500 turkeys. The turkeys were purchased at an average price of 14 cents per pound. Saturday the firm will ship one car from each point to Boston, Mass., for the Thanksgiving market. The turkeys, this season are said to be in fine condition for the market and more plentiful than last year.

MATRIMONIAL.

—A marriage license was issued Wednesday to Mr. L. H. Insko and Miss Beulah S. Ashcraft.

—At Richmond last week, Mr. Charles McCord of Paris, and Miss Stella McCormack, of Slate Lick, Madison county, were united in marriage by Rev. E. B. Barnes, at the home of the minister. Mr. McCord is an employee of the L. & N., and boards with Mrs. Schwartz on High street.

—At Bethel Wednesday, Mr. John Ballinger and Miss Bessie Kimbrough were united in marriage. The bride is one of Harrison county's charming girls. Mr. Ballinger has been quite ill for some weeks, and as he was unable to leave his room on the day appointed, the ceremony took place Wednesday at his home. Mr. Ballinger was formerly of Shawhan, this county.

—Mr. O. L. Barney and Miss Carrie E. Stuart of Georgetown, were married at Lexington Thursday afternoon by Dr. J. W. Porter of the Baptist church at the parsonage. The bride is the accomplished daughter of Mr. Joseph Stuart of Georgetown, formerly of Paris, and the groom has been in the employ of the Indian Refining Co., but will at once take a position as manager of E. Dowling's cooperage plant at Lexington. They will reside in Lexington.

—The Georgetown Times gives the following account of the wedding of Miss Mary Elizabeth Wyatt of Fredonia, Ky., to Mr. Major Barak Smith, of Scott county, which is of much interest here:

"The marriage of Miss Mary Elizabeth Wyatt, of Fredonia, Ky., to Mr. Major Barak Smith, of Scott county, occurred at the Presbyterian church, Fredonia, on last Wednesday morning. The church was darkened and the color scheme of white and green was carried out in simple, yet beautiful decorations. The altar was banked with ferns, palms and chrysanthemums through which shown many cathedral candles. The archways over the baptistry and entrance to the choir room were festooned with smilax, altogether making a pretty background for the bridal party. The organ was presided over by Mrs. Rice, cousin to the bride, and several appropriate songs were rendered by Miss Shelton, of Covington, Tenn., in a beautiful and rich soprano voice.

"Entering the church first and down separate aisles were the little niece of the groom, Virginia Harris Ferguson, daintily gowned in a hand embroidered dress, and Master Rice, little cousin of the bride, wearing a stylish white serge suit, who opened little white gates at the ends of the aisles through which the bridal party passed.

"Next came in order named and also down separate aisles, Miss Terly of Princeton, and Mr. Goodloe O'Neil, of Louisville; Miss Myers, of Princeton, and Mr. Guy Rice, of Fredonia; Miss Isabelle Howerton, of Fredonia, and Mr. Fred Dobbelling, of Cincinnati, Ohio; Miss Shelton, of Covington, Tenn., and Mr. Malcolm Wilkey, of Fredonia, who formed a semi-circle in front of the altar. Last came the bride on the arm of her cousin, Miss Bringle, a queenly looking young matron of Covington, Tenn. At the same time the groom entered from the choir room with his best man, his brother-in-law, Mr. William C. Ferguson, of Bourbon county. The bride and groom met at the altar, where an impressive ceremony was performed.

"The bride, who is a blonde, never looked lovelier than in her handsome wedding gown of chiffon over white messaline with pearl trimmings. Her veil was caught by a band of lilies of the valley. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley, while her four handsome maids who were beautifully gowned in pale brocade satins, with aigrettes in their hair, carried roses.

"The bride is the pretty and attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Wyatt and is beloved by all who know her. She attended Campbell-Hagerman College, Lexington, where she met her future husband. The groom is the popular son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund D. Smith.

"The happy young couple were the recipients of many beautiful presents, among them being a chest of silver from the bride's mother.

"Mr. and Mrs. Smith left for a short trip to Louisville and Cincinnati, after which they will be at home until Spring with Mr. and Mrs. William Ferguson, near Paris."

Taking Evidence for War Claims

A dispatch from Lexington says: "Capt. C. C. Calhoun, F. L. Newbeck and J. H. Graves of Washington, arrived here last night to take evidence concerning a number of claims of Kentuckians against Federal Government for stores and supplies taken and the occupation of property by the Union soldiers during the Civil War."

"Mr. Graves of the Department of Justice, represents the Government. Having taken testimony in these cases here and at Nicholasville, they will proceed to Paris, Maysville, Cincinnati, Louisville and other points and take additional evidence. The aggregate amount involved in these cases is upward of $100,000."

STOCK, CROP AND FARM NOTES.

—RICHMOND COURT.—The Climax says: "The November court day crowd was a large one, fully up to the usual attendance, but very little stock was on the streets. Hardly a first class mule was offered for sale, and the price on these were held by the owners so high that trading was out of the question. Robt. Bodkin sold to O. H. Chenault a fine looking mule colt for $100. At the stock yards about 3,000 cattle were offered and the prevailing price was five cents, with many buyers, in fact there were very few left, the bulk being sold by noon Monday. Buyers for slop feeders were here from Indiana and parts of Kentucky. Heifers brought from 3¢ to 3½¢. There were a few sheep and hogs offered. An unusually lot of old cows and oxen were offered with few buyers."

—John Wagers of Richmond, received the past ten days several carloads of cattle purchased some time ago at $6.50. From Irvine Hume he received 50 that averaged 1,375, from Warfield Bennett, 60 head which averaged 1,400. They were all good exporters. Wm. Langford sold two carloads of fat cattle to James McKinney for 5¢ cents.

—The Winchester Democrat says: "Mr. Morris, cattle buyer, was here last week and made many purchases, among them 350 head of James M. Bigstaff, average weight 1,500 pounds, at six cents; 150 of J. T. Highland, average weight 1,400 pounds, at six cents, and 60 of Henry C. Hall, average weight 1,450 pounds at six cents. These cattle were bought for the Baltimore market, as were all the cattle Morris purchased. Mr. W. B. Greene purchased of Ben F. Mark 40 head of cattle averaging 1,400 pounds, at the prevailing prices. There are yet about 1,000 cattle for the export market unsold in this county."

Help Must Come From Within.

No one can help us as much as our own determination to find the best way out. It is often wasted time to ask advice, yet the explanations we make to others may clear up our own vision. If you are in trouble, ask yourself if this could not be some act of fate to turn you on a better path.

European Writings in China.

Pell street reports that among the Chinese the most popular translations of European and American books are "Camille," "Treasure Island," "Robinson Crusoe," "Sketch Book," "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "Ivanhoe," "Dawn," "The Tallsman," "Manon Lescaut," "Arabian Nights," "Sherlock Holmes" and several of Dickens'.—New York Press.

Hereditary Instinct.

When baby turns away from the amiable visitor who is trying to make friends, and rushes to mother and burles his face in her skirts, he is doing exactly what it was wise for children to do in the ancient forest, when stranger and danger were the same thing, and not just rhymes as they are now.

A Cold Shoulder.

"Talk about your raw deals!" angrily bleated the shivering sheep, immediately after being sheared. "Every body knows that the woolen industry is protected by the tariff, yet the ungrateful pirates don't leave me, the original wool manufacturer, enough protection to ward off a cold in the head."

Curiously Expressed.

Curious ways of expressing ideas in English may be expected from foreigners, as, for instance, when the Frenchman, who made a call in the country and was about to be introduced to the family, said: "Ah, ze ladies! Zen I would before, if you please, vish to purify mine 'ands and to sweep mine hair."

The Nameless Yacht

A Case of Mystery of the Sea

By F. A. MITCHEL

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

There have been two cases of ships discovered in good condition, but deserted by their crews. One was found on the open sea under sail, the other at anchor on a coast. These two are all that thus far have been recorded.

It remains for me to record a third. I am a gentleman of leisure given to yachting. I am fond of cruising on my yacht either with a party of friends or a single male companion. During the last season I started from the New York Yacht club's dock at New York for a cruise eastward along the coast. I put in at several places on the route—New London, Marblehead, Portland and other ports—for fresh table supplies, then steamed on, intending to enter the St. Lawrence river and visit the Thousand Islands.

We met a number of yachts, for it was in the season, and yachtsmen are prone in hot weather to occupy the cooler regions of the northeastern coast. One evening while steaming across one of those beautiful bays that indent the rocky coast of Maine we saw near the shore a steam yacht riding at anchor within a cable's length of the shore.

Alec Wingate was with me on this cruise. Alec was the son of a British baronet and had domestic troubles. He had married the daughter of a colonel in the English army, a very beautiful girl, who, after a couple of years of married life during which she and her husband had lived very happily together, suddenly disappeared. Whether she had been kidnapped or had gone off with a lover no one could tell. There was no evidence, at least none that any one had ever got hold of, to point in either of these directions. The only other theory was that she had been murdered. Wingate had hunted for her all over the world and had come to America for the purpose. I had met him and, having taken a liking to him, begged him to divert his mind from his loss by going on a cruise with me.

Our course lay near enough to the anchored yacht to enable us to see with glasses what she was; that is, we could have seen any flags, people or other distinguishing marks. But there were neither people nor flags. She was a steamer yacht, but no smoke was being emitted from her stack. Her stern was at one time toward us, and what was my astonishment to see no name on her.

We slowed up, expecting every minute to see some one appear on the deck, but after waiting half an hour without any one appearing it began to look as if either a party had gone ashore from her for some purpose or she had been deserted. The first of these theories was not very likely correct. In the first place at least one member of the crew would have been left in charge, and in the second this was a perfectly wild coast, and there could be no object for any party to go ashore unless for water.

I gave orders to steam up alongside the nameless yacht. The hour was about 7 in the evening, and a fine dinner was set in the cabin. A fire was burning in the galley. Every boat belonging to the yacht was in its place. In the lockers in the after part of the vessel were articles of male and female wearing apparel, the latter indicating that ladies had been aboard.

And here the mystery changes from those sea secrets I have mentioned, or rather, another mystery is added. Alec Wingate recognized a dress contained in a rosewood locker as one that had belonged to his wife. He at once became wild with varying emotions. There was pleasure at this evidence that his wife at least had been recently alive. There was bitterness lest she might have been living on this yacht with a paramour. There was fear lest though she had so recently lived, she had met with some misfortune.

To allay this excitement I told Wingate that he might easily be mistaken in the dress. But he said that it was the one in which he had most liked to see his wife arrayed and the only one of her wardrobe that he would surely recognize.

We went through the yacht from stern to stern looking for some explanation of the mystery. Every state-room, every receptacle, was ransacked. The firebox door stood partly open, and I looked in to see if materials had been put in to light a new fire. The old fire was still smoldering. The only thing we discovered was that the yacht had undoubtedly been made in England. All the maker's marks on the finishing and furniture were English. The upholstery had been purchased of a well known upholsterer in London.

Having satisfied ourselves that there was no one aboard, we left "the nameless" and returned to our own vessel. I induced Wingate to sit down to dinner—he would eat nothing—and discuss the matter. He wanted to go ashore the next day and search the coast. This seemed to me a useless expenditure of time. I had come out for a cruise and did not like the prospect of waiting while a search party beat the beach in a desolate country where there was nothing but wild moose or caribou. But Wingate suggested that the party on "the nameless" might have gone ashore for hunting purposes, and I at last consented that the next day he might take three of the crew, go ashore and spend twelve hours in looking for the deserters of the yacht.

But overnight something occurred to render this inadvisable. We set a light on "the nameless" and left one man to watch on our own vessel, which was all that was necessary since we were at anchor in a small bay in good weather. One man watched till eight bells, midnight, when another man took his place. Wingate wished me to put a man on "the nameless," and I did.

At two bells in the morning Wingate, who had slept little during the night, looked out of the porthole in his state-room for the yacht. Not seeing her and supposing that he was not on the right side to see her, he got up and went on deck. "The nameless" was nowhere to be seen. He came to my room to announce the fact. I asked him what the watch reported about the disappearance, and he said that he had found the man sound asleep.

Putting on a bath robe, I went on deck. The first watch said that "the nameless" was in position when he was relieved, so she must have pulled out during the second watch. I asked if anything was known of the man who had been stationed on her, but was told that he had neither been heard of nor seen since he had been put aboard. He had disappeared with the mysterious vessel.

Among my crew there were several ignorant, superstitious men—sailors of low rating—who were paralyzed with terror. They rushed without orders to pull up the anchor, but I stopped them, though I feared they were going to brain me with capstain bars they had taken up. I didn't propose to take any action till I had received further information and had consulted with my guest, Alec Wingate. One of my men said that during the night he thought he heard the sound of oars.

Wingate was very much agitated over this part of the mystery. Indeed, he seemed more disturbed at the disappearance than he had been at the discovery of the yacht. I suggested that he make a reconnoitering trip ashore, as had been intended, but with a different purpose. He might find traces of people having been there. He followed my advice, but the keenest eye in the party could discover no indications of human beings. For my part I believed "the nameless" had been taken possession of by shore desperadoes; that they had been in hiding somewhere near by; had gone aboard in the night, surprised the man on watch, killed him and towed the yacht out of our hearing with muffled oars; then they had lighted the fires and steamed away. There was nothing against this theory except the fact of Wingate's having found one of his wife's dresses aboard. But I took no stock in this, for Wingate had suffered so much at her loss that probably his mind had become afflicted and he had himself created the remembrance of this dress.

After consultation with Wingate, whom I told that I would adopt any course he wished, it was determined that we get up the anchor immediately and go out to the open sea with a view to discovering if "the nameless" was in sight. This we did, running directly southeast in a direct line from the coast, but notwithstanding that we had a clean sweep either way and excellent glasses we saw nothing of her. I believed she had got too much start, but nearly all of my crew by this time considered her a phantom.

Nor did we afterward hear anything of her, though we spoke every vessel we met, asking if she had seen her. One vessel described her pretty well, but the yacht observed was the Acadia, with the name painted on her stern. We completed our voyage without any other information.

But the mystery of "the nameless" was destined to be solved. During the winter Wingate got wind of his wife's being in Montreal. He went there and found her.

Though the story of her disappearance was never made entirely clear to me, the mystery of the nameless yacht was. To keep Mrs. Wingate from testifying in litigation where British people in high life were concerned she had been kidnapped and kept at sea in a yacht. Her kidnaper while on the New England coast saw by a New York social paper that her husband had embarked on a cruise with me. As soon as my yacht appeared his sailing master recognized her. At the time a leak in the boilers was being repaired, and there was no heat in the firebox, so the yacht could not steam away.

The kidnaper, supposing Wingate knew that his wife was on the Acadia and that he was on her track, ordered a paint brush to be run over her painting.

An idea occurred to him. There was at the time no one aboard but himself, an engineer and his captive. He drugged the captive, carried her into the firebox and got in there with her. The engineer got in also, and the party, two on one side of the door and one on the other, were hidden from view of any one looking straight into the box, especially as there was very little light there. They all stayed in this concealment until we left the yacht and returned there when we put our watch aboard. During the night they surprised, gagged and tied him; then, having cut the cable, the two men got in the dingy and with muffled oars pulled out of hearing. To get up steam and speed away was the next move. The Acadia, being one of the fastest English yachts, was soon at a safe distance.

DEATHS.

—Mrs. Mary Johnson, wife of Mr. George Johnson, residing on West street, died Wednesday morning of tuberculosis, aged 54 years. The interment took place Thursday afternoon at two o'clock in the Paris cemetery, the funeral services being conducted at the grave by Rev. O. B. Crockett of the Methodist church.

—Mrs. Catherine Newhall, aged 85 years, died Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Greenberry Reid, in Corbin, after a long illness of general debility.

Mrs. Newhall was the widow of the late Joshua W. Newhall, of Paris, who for many years conducted a machine shop in this city, and who preceded her to the grave six years ago, dying at the advanced age of 98 years.

Since the death of her husband Mrs. Newhall had made her home with her daughter. Besides Mrs. Reid she is survived by two sons, Messrs. Joseph Newhall of this city, and Wm. Newhall of Cincinnati.

The remains will be taken to Cincinnati today and the funeral services will be held in Spring Grove Cemetery.

—Mrs. James S. Starks of Midway, died Sunday morning at four o'clock at the Norton Infirmary in Louisville, following an operation for appendicitis. Mrs. Starks suffered the attack of appendicitis about two weeks ago, the operation was regarded as successful and she was slowly improving. Complication arose and her death came unexpectedly.

Besides her husband, who is a nephew of Mr. J. Harvey Hibler, of Paris, Mrs. Starks is survived by two children—a son and daughter—James and Winifred, the youngest being just one year old.

The body was taken to Midway Sunday evening and the funeral services were held at the grave in the Midway cemetery Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. J. P. Spriggs of the Baptist church.

Noble Kills His Fourth Man.

Wesley Turner, jailer of Breathitt county, was shot and instantly killed Tuesday night about eight o'clock, at Jackson, by Jake Noble. The results of the election were just being announced and hundreds of people were on the streets at the time of the killing.

Noble borrowed a pistol from a man who was with Turner, Noble saying he wanted the pistol to shoot to celebrate the Republican victory in Breathitt county. When he got the weapon in his hands he shot Turner twice, once through the heart and once through the shoulder as he was falling. Turner died instantly.

Turner comes of a very large and influential family. He was elected jailer last year by a large majority and was making a very popular officer.

Noble after shooting Turner turned and fled across the bridge and made his escape.

This is the fourth man Noble has killed in Breathitt county. It will be remembered he was in police court recently in this city for creating a disturbance on a Louisville and Nashville train.

A later report from Jackson is to the effect that Noble is hiding in the neighborhood of Lost Creek and defies the officers of the law. Persons arriving in Jackson yesterday stated Noble had sent word for them to send a supply of coffins when they came to arrest him, also one for himself. A reward of $500 has been offered for his capture.

HARD WORK FOR HIM.

Caller—The least exercise seems to overtax the hearts of some people.

Mrs. Hardup—That's the case with my husband, when he tries to get his hand into his pocket, if I ask him for money.

CLINTONVILLE ITEMS.

Sunday school; 11 a. m., preaching, it being the World's Temperance Sunday, the theme will be "Watch;" 6:30 p. m., song and prayer service; 7 p. m., preaching, theme, "Personal Responsibility."

Lisle Will Broke.

A special term of the Clark Circuit Court was held in Winchester last week to try the contest over the will of the late Claiborne Lisle. It was bitterly contested on both sides and consumed the entire week including some night sessions. Judge Benton declined to preside and Gov. Willson appointed Judge L. L. Walker of Lancaster, to occupy the bench.

The case went to the jury Saturday morning. It did not take long to decide and they soon brought in a verdict that the instrument before them was not the last will and testament of Mr. Lisle. The verdict was signed by ten of the jury.

Petitions were filed asking for a new trial. Judge Walker took the matter under advisement and will give his decision at the regular December term of court.

The will disposed entirely of person property as the testator had previously disposed of his real estate by deed. No matter which way Judge Walker decides the question of a new trial the case will likely go to the Court of Appeals.

To Try Out New Shoes.

After purchasing a pair of shoes, if you wish to wear them around the house to stretch them and are not sure of keeping them, slip a pair of stockings over them. If they are not comfortable they can be exchanged without showing any signs of having been worn.

Virtue.

Virtue by itself is not strong enough, or anything like it. It must have strength added to it and the determination to use that strength.—Theodore Roosevelt.

Reciprocity.

"I am afraid I have come to see you about this matter only to borrow trouble." "That's all right. It's the only thing I have to lend."

Apathy Among Democrats.

In spite of the fact old Bourbon has always been in the front rank in support of the Democratic nominees, she failed utterly to come up with her usual majority in the Congressional election Tuesday, and Rankin, the Republican candidate, carried the county by 207 votes. In the city of Paris, according to the unofficial count, he received eight votes more than his opponent.

This is an occurrence we note with much regret, and it was due entirely to the indifference of the Democratic voters after a candidate from Bourbon had been defeated in a primary by Congressman Cantrill. The News had on two occasions opposed Mr. Cantrill for the nomination but after he was the choice of the people we accorded him our support. On the face of the returns is shown a falling off of more than a thousand Democratic votes, as compared with the vote received by Mr. Cantrill in the election of 1908. The Republicans fell short over six hundred, but if the Democrats had done their duty on election day Bourbon would have furnished her usual majority.

Nothing is to be gained by such methods as staying away from the polls or scratching the nominees. Such action on the part of the Democrats is what put the State in the hands of the Republicans today. Every man who participated in the primary was in honor bound to support Mr. Cantrill, but it seems that more than a thousand had a higher regard for personal prejudice than honor. Bourbon, Woodford and Fayette bear the distinction of having gone for a Republican, but thanks to the other counties of the district they furnished a sufficient majority in each to keep the old Ashland district in the Democratic fold by sending Mr. Cantrill back to Congress.

Stock Barn Burned.

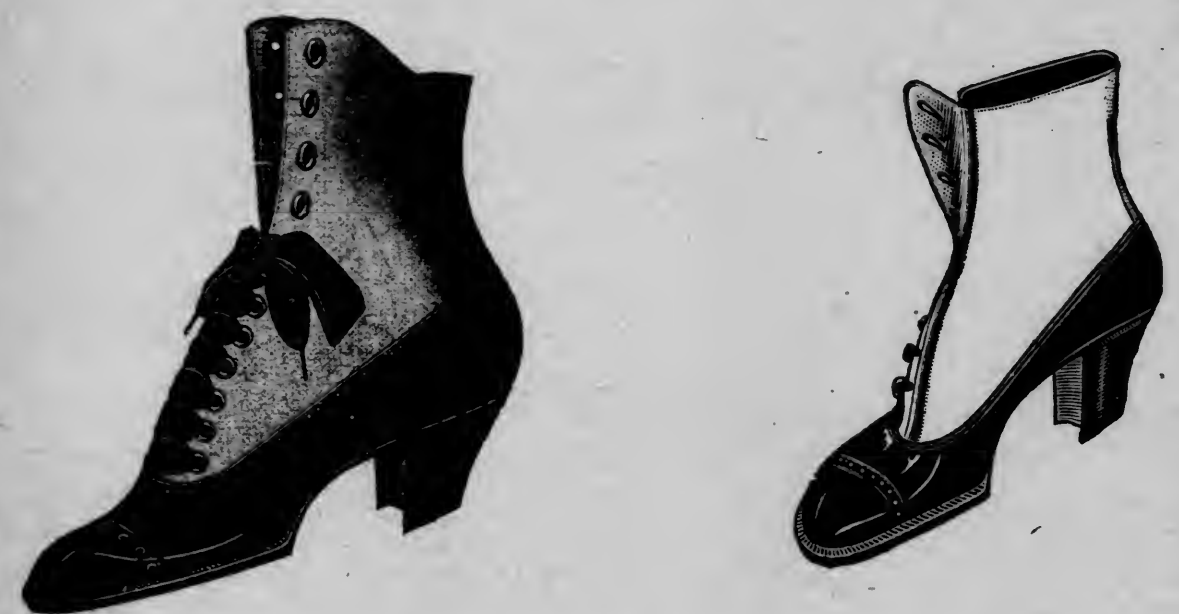

On the Levee pike near Mt. Sterling the large stock barn belonging to Mrs. Mary J. Anderson was totally destroyed by fire last week with a lot of millet, timothy hay and stable tools. The loss on the barn will reach $500. It was insured, but the contents, valued at $100, are a total loss. It is not known how the fire originated.

Had Been Married Before.

A minister was reading the marriage service that was to unite a negro couple, when he came to the question will you "Love, honor and obey," the dusky groom interrupted him: "Speak dem wo'ds again, pa'son; speak dem wo'ds once mo' souse de lady gin get de full solemnity of de meaning ob de wo'ds. I'se been marrie' befo'."
